Client Device Services

Leading devices – Expert advice - Reliable deployment

Client devices are the main interface for users. Choosing and correctly configuring devices will make the biggest difference to whether teachers, staff and students can realise the benefits of computing. Our client device delivery services ensure you get the right device, setup for the right tasks so your end users can make the most of your investments.

Service overview

RM Client services offer procurement, configuration and deployment options that have all the bases covered. Whether it's a single laptop or a fleet of interactive displays we can help.

We work with all major providers of client operating systems, Microsoft, Google and Apple and leading hardware manufacturers to bring the best-in-class devices to our customers.

Our teams are experts in setup and deployment across the full range of devices and can advise on best practices from management to deployment services.

Business outcome	Benefit
Get the right spec for the job	Rely on our client specialists to advise on the right device so users have the right tools for the job.
Security from the start	Build security into the core of the management of your devices with standards-based setups to ensure you're not leaving gaps that can be exposed.
Faster deployment	Choose from a selection of client deployment options, including pre-configured, to close the gap between delivery and use.
Simple, fast procurement	Use our ecommerce platform to benefit from simple procurement at your convenience.

"If you give them a problem, they are excellent at providing a range of solutions and don't hard sell their own products and services in the process. It feels like a partnership, and they want the best for the school like we do."
