20th August,

Dear Mr Rat,

I am writing to inform you that my client Mr Hare has issued a legal case against you with regard to the criminal activity you partook on the occasion of his race with Mr Tortoise on Saturday 18th August.

It is alleged by Mr Hare that you conned him out of a tremendous amount of money and then went on to injure him by throwing sharp tacks all over the road that you knew full well he would be running through later in the race.

It is also alleged that you offered no sympathy to Mr Hare regarding his injuries at no time offered him any compensation. My client has been left with no other option than to sue you for damages amounting in total to £25,000 and you are duly summonsed to appear at Wild Wood County Court on Monday 22nd September to answer this case.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Wilfred Weasel

Barrister at Law
