Welcome and Keynote Session, Jeremy Cooper

Stream 1

Using GAM to get more from G Suite

Michael Oakes, Senior Product Manager

G Suite is often seen as simple and un-configurable with admins finding it difficult to make the configuration changes they're used to on a network. Utilising GAM will change that. This session (written by Ben Marks, Network Manager at Ashlyns School) shows how you can use scripting tools to make the tenancy work for you.

10:45 – 11:45

Stream 2

Office 365 the Power Platform - from IT Pro to Cloud Pro

Steve Forbes, Senior Product Manager

We will take a look at what Microsoft refer to as the "Power Platform" and how the IT role might be changing from fixer to a "no code" developer of platforms. A deep dive into Microsoft Flow, Power Apps, Bots and Azure cognitive services - demonstrating real examples of how they can be used in education.

11:45 – 12:15

Coffee Break

Change and the Individual

Michael Oakes, Senior Product Manager

Making change in an organisation starts and ends with the individual. This session will look at methods you can employ to make change within your school.

12:15 – 13:15

Delivering Cloud-Ready Connectivity

Mark Vevers, Technical Design Authority

With ever more services delivered from the cloud, your connection to it has become critical. How do you ensure your broadband delivers?

13:15 – 14:15

Security in the Cloud

Steve Forbes, Senior Product Manager

You have the potential to make your data and your users safer when using cloud technology but with so many options and licences it can all be a bit confusing. We will look at each of the options, evaluate their effectiveness in an education setting and separate the must haves from the nice to haves.

14:15 – 15:15

Navigating a Hybrid Environment

Ash Earl, Technical Architect

How to work well in a hybrid environment and RM Education's dos and don'ts, looking at tech that helps support this position while you move to the cloud.
